FEEDING SOYBEANS
Raw soybeans can be fed to all cattle with the exception of young calves seven months of age and younger. Raw soybeans will average about 42% crude protein and will contain about 19% fat. Soybeans can best be utilized by cattle as a protein supplement.

If you feed raw soybeans, you will not need to use protein supplement or protein molasses mixtures or other products.

According to Dr. D. L. Pritchard of the Experiment Station at Quincy, Florida, a regulator can be used to limit the intake of soybeans. Either salt or peanut hulls can serve as a regulator. He suggests two or three parts of ground soybeans to one part salt. One or two parts of ground peanut hulls to one part of soybeans can also be used. Feed free choice. You can also use whole raw soybeans. Brood cows can be fed four to five pounds of whole soybeans per head per day. In fact, five pounds of whole soybeans will supply a thousand pound, lactating beef brood cow with 90% of the daily protein requirement and about 40% of her daily energy requirement. Yearling cattle should be fed about three pounds per day.

Be sure to feed enough hay with the soybeans. If you need additional information on feeding soybeans to cattle, get in touch with Dan Presley at 894-5596.

GRASS TETANY
Rainy, over-cast weather will help to trigger grass tetany in cattle. Heavy milking cows with young calves are often the first animals affected with this condition which is caused by a magnesium deficiency.

Grass tetany is not a problem with stocker calves or dry cows. The first sign of the disease is that the animal will look and act nervous, move stiffly and stagger. Death may follow. Prevention is easy. Supply extra magnesium to cattle every day. This can be done by feeding a mineral supplement free choice.

A one-to-one mixture of trace-mineral salt and magnesium oxide is most economical. However, cows do not like the taste of magnesium, so they may not eat enough of this mixture. You can improve their consumption by mixing equal parts by weight of ground shelled corn, trace-mineral salt and magnesium oxide. Several commercial products are available.

Hardee's employees show off new grill recently installed at the Elba location.

Hardees Of Elba Gets New Modern Cooking Grill

Hardee's of Elba has undergone a major renovation which includes the installation of a brand new "top-cooking" grill, "the only one of its kind in southern Alabama," said a representative of the fast-food store.

The spokesperson said the new grill is unusual in that it cooks burgers from the top and bottom simultaneously. "A burger is placed on the grill, and a cover, called a 'press,' is lowered onto the meat," she said. "The burger then cooks on both sides without having to be flipped. This procedure causes the burger to cook faster, while retaining more of its natural juices."

"We hope our customers will enjoy a better quality product," said the Hardee's representative.

NAACP Lawsuit Seeks Change In Election Process For County

A lawsuit has been filed by the NAACP on behalf of residents in eight Alabama counties, including Coffee County, charging that at-large county commission elections are in violation of the United States Constitution because the method of election denies blacks a fair voice in local government.

The lawsuit, filed in federal court in Montgomery, was filed in behalf of residents in Coffee, Crenshaw, Etowah, Lawrence, Calhoun, Escambia, Talladega and Pickens counties.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) Defense Fund, as well as law firms in Montgomery and Mobile, are representing the plaintiffs in the suit.

The lawsuit charges that the at-large elections, in which members of a county governing body are chosen by all voters of the county and not by districts, does not provide adequate representation for minorities.

A portion of the suit stated, "The system of at-large elections, with numbered posts and majority vote requirements -- was originally designed and has been maintained by the state of Alabama for the purpose and intent of abridging, denying and subverting black voting strength."

The lawsuit states that no black has ever been elected to a county commission in any of the eight counties named, and claims that each county, operating under election laws enacted "during a time in Alabama history when racial feelings and prejudices were especially virulent."

The lawsuit further argues that the at-large election system in existence in the counties violates the U.S. Constitution's guarantee of equal protection and asks that a federal judge stop the counties from holding elections under such systems until a new, fairer form of government is created.

Members of the Alabama Democratic Conference (ADC), headed by vice-chairman Damascus Crittenden, presented a voting restricting proposal to the Coffee County Commission on Oct. 14, 1985, and requested that the commission take action on redistricting prior to the June, 1986 primary election.

In the proposal, Crittenden requested that the commission consider setting a target date of not more than 40 days for an attorney of commission choice to devise an acceptable plan. He also recommended that the 40-day period, if accepted, begin no later than November.

At the meeting, Crittenden requested that the commission agree to at least six single-member districts and to the commission the change from at-large to single-member district elections was taking place in many counties and cities across the state.

He also asked the commission to "provide an opportunity for black residents to be elected and also provide ample opportunities for black leadership organizations in Coffee County to have input for the development of the plan."

Crittenden stated it was the goal of the ADC proposal to ensure there will be at least one majority black district that is acceptable to the black community. A spokesman for ADC said the lawsuit was filed when the local commission did not meet the deadline earlier requested. All the counties named in the lawsuits have five-member commissions except Calhoun County (which has three) and Coffee County (with six).

County Officials Deny Allegations

Coffee County officials have reported they will file a general denial of an NAACP-sponsored lawsuit seeking the county to re-divide its districts to insure black representation on the county commission.

In a published report last week, Prior to 1971, Coffee County was

Results Of State Graduation Examination Reveal Elba High School Students Continue To Show Improvement

Alabama Supt. of Education, Dr. Wayne Teague, released the results of the fall administration of the Alabama high school graduation examination on Dec. 20, and stated he was very pleased with the test results.

"The graduation examination is the culmination of the basic competency program which assesses minimum skills in grades 3, 6 and 9," stated Teague, "and the program is designed to help assure that high school graduates have acquired certain minimum skills prior to receiving a diploma. Passing the examination is just one part of the criteria that is required for receiving a diploma; additionally, students must also successfully complete the required Carnegie units."

In discussing the statewide test percentages of increases in each subject area represent more than 1,000 students passing each section of the test this year as compared to last year," said Teague. "It is most encouraging to know that more of our students are acquiring the basic skills as they go through our school systems."

Results for students taking the test for a second or third time showed that a little less than half of them passed the test on their second or third try.

A cumulative passing rate has been calculated for the graduating class of 1986, excluding special education students, and the results show that 99 percent of the students have passed the reading test; 98 percent have passed the mathematics test, and 98 percent have passed the language test.

"You must realize that these

BRAINSTORMS

By Ferrin Cox, Publisher

State politics are getting hot. Potential candidates are doing the fast shuffle to improve their chances, and as one candidate moves to a race "where he will be more effective," two more shift to another race. For those who don't understand a candidate's meaning when he shifts to a race "to be more effective," it can often be interpreted to mean "a better chance to win," 'cause we all know one is more effective if elected than if defeated.

We have previously written in this space that the idea of extending the Elba city limits has been batted around for years, and predicted no action would be taken. Monday night there is a public hearing on the matter, and we may have to eat our words . . . but not yet. The hearing is a move in the right direction, but it is a long way from completing the project. We favor the extension, but urge affected citizens to attend the meeting and voice an opinion . . . pro or con. Heck, someone might change my butt-headed mind, even though it is doubtful.

We endorse the idea that the Alabama Commission on Higher Education ban any new programs at universities in Montgomery and Huntsville, at least until the federal desegregation suit is settled. New programs could only confuse the issue further and add to the bill that must ultimately be paid by the citizens of Alabama. The thing that scares us about this particular issue is the power of the commission to prevent new programs. We have seen and heard of matters in which the schools did what they wanted to do and all the commission could do was frown and grumble that they were powerless.

The truth is going to hit home and soon as the U.S. Congress tangles with the mechanics of balancing the federal budget as they mandated on themselves, it will be interesting to watch as the reality of cutting spending programs hits the various special interest groups of America. The annual budget cuts that are mandated (unless the law is revised by the courts or Congress) call for cuts of about $36 billion a year until the budget is balanced along about 1991.

We got through the holiday season in flying colors and are a bit thankful that we are now back on a regular work schedule. Heck, we even know what day it is when we wake up in the morning . . . without thinking back to the last time we went to church, etc.

We were on the highways some Sunday afternoon as we had to swap cars with our daughter who left hers at home for maintenance when she went back to school last week. Most college students didn't have to be back in school until this week, however, and Sunday afternoon we spotted a bunch headed up the highway with a car loaded with clothes and boxes of things, who were probably making a trip they had made many times before. Behind the scenes there were probably a bunch of mothers and daddys making arrangements at the bank to support the student for the balance of the year. Or as a friend said about his son, "He doesn't want to graduate, because he would take a cut in pay if he graduated and went to work."

There can be no greater gift of love than that of a 15-year-old young man in Patterson, California. We didn't write of him as a "boy" because we consider his wish that his girl friend, who needed a heart transplant, get his "because he knew he was going to die," to be that of an adult mind. Even though he was apparently in good health when he told his family of his coming death, he did in fact die after a blood vessel burst in his head. The girl received his heart in a transplant operation. We just hope he didn't want to die so badly that this in itself caused the blood vessel to burst.

Khadafy is talking tough as he rallies the people of Libya to emotional heights against the U.S. There has been concern for the 1500 Americans who are in that country, and we share that concern. However, if that "mean man" doesn't let them leave, etc., we discourage any military move to free them. They have had months of warnings and stayed to gobble that mighty dollar. Therefore, I am not willing for us to send our young men in there after them. . . that money ain't worth the death of even one of our young men. This doesn't put us in the category of avoiding war at any cost, but it does get a favorable response from many folks who feel the same but are slow to speak out for fear of being called a radical.

Chicken Group To Meet In New

Brockton On Tuesday, January 14

The South Alabama Poultry and Egg Association will meet on Tuesday, January 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Farm Center at New Brockton, Ala.

The organization is affiliated with the Alabama Poultry and Egg association which is based in Cullman. The South Alabama Poultry and Egg Association is dedicated to aiding the progress of the poultry industry in the region. Poultry is big business in the South Alabama region. Gross farm income from broiler and egg production in Coffee County in 1984 was roughly $43 million. Income in Pike County stood at $13.2 million. Gross farm income in the eight county region in 1984 was $77.8 million.

Alabama Unemployment

Rate Declines In November

Alabama's unemployment rate declined from 7.9 percent in October to 7.8 percent in November, according to Bill Heatherly, Director of the Alabama Department of Industrial Relations. The year-ago rate measured 10.7 percent. November's rate represented 141,100 unemployed, compared to 142,600 in October, and 192,300 a year ago. Heatherly attributed the improvement in the State's unemployment rate to expected seasonal hiring of temporaries in the retail trade sector for the holiday buying season, which offset the effect of declines in agricultural and construction activity. Heatherly also noted that wage and salary employment advanced 5,000 over the month, primarily the result of the Christmas hiring, which yielded a 5,300 increase in the retail trade sector. Nominal manufacturing losses were registered over the month, as scattered gains offset all but 100 of the reported factory losses. The comparable national rate measured 6.7 percent, down from 6.8 percent in October, and also below the year-ago rate of 6.9 percent.

Social Security Benefits May Be Taxed

Up to half of the Social Security benefits received by people in 1985 may be subject to Federal income tax, but mainly only for those who had substantial income in addition to their benefits, Mary A. Coleman, Social Security manager in Dothan, said recently.

ELBA POLICE REPORT

The Elba Police Dept. reported an active week with a total of 10 traffic citations issued. The citations were for reckless driving (2), load not secured on truck, speeding (2), expired tag (4) and driving under the influence.

Following are daily activity reports:

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 1

Activity included a vehicle on fire at Newbia Church (5:24 p.m.) and an attempted robbery at Kendrick Apts. (6:12 P.M.)

THURSDAY, JAN. 2

Activity included a vehicle on fire at 84 East and 87 South (9:13) and disturbance on Cedar Lane Dr. (3:18 p.m.)

In fact Coleman said here in the Wiregrass area, we expect that only one person in ten will actually have to pay any tax on any part of his or her Social Security benefits.

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits in 1985 will receive form SSA-1099, said recently.

FRIDAY, JAN. 3

Activity included a shoplifter at the Jr. Food Store (1:30 p.m.)

SATURDAY, JAN. 4

Activity included a wreck at 189 North (12:10 p.m.)

SUNDAY, JAN. 5

Activity included a wreck at Al. 203 and Carver Dr. (12:18 a.m.), a prowler on Buford St. (1:10 a.m.), a prowler on Buford St. (2:46 p.m.) and a disturbance at the hospital (4:32 p.m.)

MONDAY, JAN. 6

Activity included a prowler on Buford St. (2:20 a.m.) and a fire on Old Samson Rd. (4:35 p.m.)

Social Security benefit statement, before the end of January. The form will show the net amount of Social Security benefits received in 1985 and this is the figure a person should use to figure if any of his or her benefits are subject to tax, Coleman said.

IRS Notice 703 will be included with Form SSA-1099, and this work sheet can be used to see if any benefits are taxable.

Up to half of a person's Social Security benefits may be subject to tax if his or her combined income—taxable income plus non-taxable interest plus one half the Social Security benefits—exceeds a base amount. The base amount is:

$25,000 if a person files as a single taxpayer,

$32,000 for a married couple filing jointly,

$0 for a married person filing a separate return if he or she lived with his or her spouse any part of 1985.

The amount of benefits subject to tax if combined income exceeds the base amount is the smaller of:

One-half of the amount over the base amount, or the amount. One half of the Social Security benefits.

If combined income does not exceed the base amount, no Social Security benefits are subject to tax, Coleman said.

WE RECEIVE LETTERS.

Dear Sir:

All physicians and hospitals keep detailed records of all patient encounters. These records contain information which may be life saving for the patient in subsequent illness. It is vitally important that the patient's future caregiver have total and quick access to all records.

For years, physician and other medical establishments, including hospitals, have furnished copies of medical records as needed upon the authorization of the patient. This has customarily been free of charge as the health of the patient has been felt to be more important than financial gain.

Our office recently requested the records of a patient, with her permission, from the Elba General Hospital. We received a two-page photocopy and a bill for ten dollars.

Not only is this fee rather extravagant for two pages, but it is a moral outrage to charge at all. It is quite clear that the objective of the Elba General Hospital has become perverted. The Elba General Hospital has replaced caring for people with caring for profit. This is more than outrage. This is sad.

Miss Martin Weds Mr. McCormick

Miss Melissa Ann Martin of Elba and James Edward McCormick of Goshen exchanged wedding vows on Saturday, the seventh of December at six o'clock in the evening in the First United Methodist Church of Elba.

The Rev. George M. Sedberry performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas Martin of Elba. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Angus Edward McCormick of Goshen.

Burning hurricane lamps graced the walkway leading to the entrances of the church. Topiary trees of pittosporum, ivy, Japanese yew and arbutus entwined with rose-colored ribbon in white etched pots marked the entry doors. Garlands of ivy tied with rose ribbons trimmed the iron handrails.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Tommy Jernigan of Montgomery.

Program attendants were Che Vaughan and Kyle Padgett of Elba. Brass arched candelabra with burning tapers were placed on either side of the Cross, the focal point of the church. The choir loft wall was adorned with a garland of baby's breath and juniper. Massive arrangements of alstroemeria lilies, peonies, fusi mums, umbrellas, palm, miniature carnations, white button mums, baby's breath and leatherleaf fern in brass urns, and ferns completed the background setting. A matching arrangement was placed on the communion table, flanked on either side with cathedral candles. Umbrella palms accented both sides of the altar rail.

To enhance the beauty of the stained glass windows, burning spiral pillar candles surrounded by juniper, leatherleaf fern and baby's breath were used.

The bride's pews were marked with tall brass aisle candelabra, alstroemeria lilies, baby's breath, miniature carnations, English ivy and tied with rose ribbon streamers and ivory lace. Other family pews were marked with rose-colored ribbons.

Prior to the wedding ceremony a program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Mark Baker, pianist; Mr. Kenneth Baker, organist; and Mrs. Marion Brunson, soloist. Preludes included Intermezzo, by Mascagni; To the Evening Star, Wagner; Largo, Handel; Makes Us One Father God, Johnson; The Lost Chord, Sullivan; Angus Dei, Bizet; Thanks Be To Thee, Handel; Friends, Smith; Love Was When, Wrytzen; Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring, Bach.

As the mothers were seated, Mrs. Brunson sang, "Sweet, Sweet Spirit" and "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee," accompanied by the organist and pianist. The attendants entered to "Trumpet Tune in D," by Purcell. The bride's processional music was from Wagner's Bride and the Groom, by Wagner. The bride and groom entered to the Lord's Prayer, played in unison by the congregation as the benediction, Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played for the recessional.

Miss Susan Dorsey of Elba was maid of honor and Mrs. Doug Martin Jr. of Opp was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Donna McCormick, Goshen, sister of the groom; Michele Cox, Goshen; Wilson, Elba; Lynn Thames, Goshen; Chrissy Brown, Daphne; Sharon Kimbrow, Hardaway.

The attendants wore long-length gowns of daphne rose tissue taffeta with a draped bodice and short puffed sleeves. A tiny ruffled trimmed the sweetheart neckline and extended to the waist. The A-line skirts were accented by a rolled double-strand tie at the waist. Bridal flowers were arm bouquets of mauve peonies and baby's breath tied with rose satin ribbon and ivory lace.

The flower girl, Vaughan Boyd of New Brookton, was gownned in a white French hand-sewn tea-length dress. The dress featured a puffed and embroidered yoke and tied in the back with a rose satin ribbon. The Swiss basiste skirt was highlighted with embroidery and a scalloped edge. She carried a white wicker basket accented with rose ribbons.

The ringbearer, Master Justin Maddox of Elba, was dressed in a white tuxedo suit. He carried a white French hand-sewn pillow appliqued in rose and adorned with lace and rose ribbons. The pillow was hand-made by the bride's mother.

Ed McCormick, Goshen, father of the groom, served as his best man. Junior groomsmen was Bo Boyd of New Brookton. Groomsmen were Art Wise, Scott Spurr, Bo Boyd, Kelley, Ft. Walton Beach, Fla.; Sam Drinkard, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Doug Martin Jr., Opp, brother of the bride; Ralph Drinkard, Troy. They wore black tuxedos and boutonnières of lily-of-the-valley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of ivory tissue taffeta and French aleonon lace. Fashioned with a scooped neckline, the fitted bodice was smothered with lace and seed pearls. The leg-a-union sleeves had delicate lace floating down to a point over the hand. The waist dropped Basque style, to a point in the front and back. The long, fitted skirt of silk taffeta gathered softly at the waist and extended into a chapel-length train. The full-length veil illusion was highlighted with clusters of pearls.

Mr. and Mrs. James Edward McCormick

The bride's bouquet was a cascading arrangement featuring lily-of-the-valley, alstroemeria lilies, stephanotis, bridal tea roses, English ivy and gardenias.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding a gown of slate blue georgette, and wore a white cattail orchid corsage.

The groom's mother was gownned in powder blue chiffon, and her corsage was a white cattail orchid. The wedding was decorated and directed by Mrs. Oliver Williams.

RECEPTION
Following the ceremony the bride's parents hosted a reception in the educational building of the church.

Burning hurricane lamps adorned with greenery and rose ribbon streamers graced the entry. Twin wreaths entwined with ribbon and white doves graced the door.

Mrs. Ted Vaughan attended the door and invited guests into the party.

The stage was banked with ferns and a massive arrangement of gladiolus, eucalyptus and pink roses.

The bride's table, the focal point of the reception, was housed in a white wrought iron gazebo, adorned with baskets of sweeping ferns. The table was skirted with avocado satin and overlaid with white scalloping lace made by the bride's grandmother. Burning candles on mirrors adorned the four-tiered wedding cake which was embossed with delicate rosebuds and topped with fresh miniature roses from the garden of the Robert Cousins. Serving the bride's cake were Mrs. Ben Helms and Mrs. L.A. Boyd IV.

The groom's table was skirted in ecru satin and overlaid with an ecru crocheted tablecloth, made by the bride's great grandmother. A masculine arrangement of fresh fruit, boxwood, palmtoe, accented with three brass ducks, adorned the table. Burning tapers in massive brass candlesticks embellished each side of the arrangement. Fruit encircled and topped the two-tiered groom's cake. Dried fruit was served in brass compotes. Serving the groom's cake were Mrs. Linda Levert and Marsha Golden.

Hors d'oeuvres were served from an extended rectangular table covered in white lace. A silver epergne on a reflector mirror in the center of the table held an arrangement of button mums, English ivy, peonies, umbrellas, palm and fusi mums. Appointments on the party table included a silver coffee service and a silver punch bowl. Servers were Mrs. Kenneth Calhoun, Miss Nancy Lindsey, Miss Cindy Brown, Mrs. Mark Kelley, Miss Suzanne Zorn, and Miss Margaret Manders.

The circular punch table was skirted in white and overlaid with a white Army-Navy cloth. Silk flowers in shades of pink encircled the silver punch bowl. White votive candles on reflected mirrors enhanced the elegance of the table. Serving the punch were Mrs. John Berryman and Mrs. Jimmy Cook.

White wicker baskets tied with rose streamers held rice bags which were passed to guests by Misses Melissa Grantham, Anna Maddox and Kendra Vaughan.

The piano was flanked with an arrangement from the bridesmaids' trousseau of leatherleaf fern, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Others contributing and assisting in the party were Mrs. Mary Holt, Mrs. Paul Stroud, Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Mrs. Anyce Brazelton, Miss Jo Ann Brazelton, Mrs. Myrt Smith, Mrs. Frances Bradshaw, Mrs. Pam Baker, Mrs. Kathy Smith, Mrs. Nancy Morrow, Mrs. Dixie Dorsey, Mrs. Heddy Cox, Mrs.

Views From The Pressbox By Ricky Mularz

The holidays ebbed with a bang last week as Elba won the county basketball tournament and there was wall-to-wall football on TV. No doubt about it - it was a great time to be a sports fan!

ELBA IS IMPRESSIVE IN COUNTY CAGE TOURNAMENT

The Elba Tigers upped their record to 4-0 last week and in the process claimed their second straight county basketball title. The Tigers opened the tourney with a solid win over Enterprise, then followed it up with a big 20-point win over arch-rival New Brockton, to take the title. Elba won the tourney and also the respect of all the people who crowded into the gym to watch the games.

Looking back at the wins, the Tigers showed they weren't just a one-man - or two-man - team. Three players scored in double figures against Enterprise, while against New Brockton all five starters scored in double figures! Elba does have a dominating player in 6'3" Kevin Goosby, who is averaging 24 points and 12 rebounds a game; however, the win over New Brockton showed what the "team" can do when all the players score, and that's what it will take if the Tigers hope to have a banner season.

Elba has the potential to win a bunch of games and I for one am looking forward to the rest of the season!

THE FANS ARE BACK . . .

When I was a youngster I went to watch Elba play basketball in the old gym and I can remember the gym being packed with fans almost every game. As I watched Elba play in the county tournament last week it was great to see Elba's side of the gym packed again and hear the fans cheer for the team. Elba's fans have been vocal in football for years, and the team has won big, and the fans are turning out in basketball and the team is winning. I've said it before and I'll say it again - fans play a big part in a team's success!

A CHANCE TO EVALUATE ALL THE COUNTY TEAMS

Last week's county tourney gave me a chance to take a good look at all the teams in the county and here are a few notes I jotted down:
New Brockton has got a very good team and should once again be a contender for a state title. The Gamecocks have one of the top players around in 6'6" Laymon Hornsby, who is a scoring machine with unlimited potential. The key to New Brockton's season will be how well the rest of the players come through, because it was evident in the tournament Hornsby can't do it all by himself.

Kinston played only one game in the tourney, but the Bulldogs showed their usual hustle and desire that is a trademark of Kinston teams. The Bulldogs don't have near as much talent as in years past, and will have to play well in every game to post a winning record; however, you can bet Kinston will give it 100 percent every game and hang tough no matter who it plays.

Zion Chapel got off to a late start this season due to the playoffs and the lack of a coach; but got a good coach in Jerry Barnes and should be settling down now that the season is well underway. The Rebels have some good players and could be a very good team when they put it all together.

Enterprise has got to be the best winless team in the world! The Wildcats are loaded with quickness and get after folks as well as anybody - they just can't seem to figure out just what they want to do. When Enterprise settles on a starting lineup and a game plan - watch out!

A LOOK BACK AT THE BOWL SEASON

I'll have to admit I didn't watch a lot of football over the holidays, but I did watch Alabama in the Aloha Bowl (got it right this time) and a couple of games on New Year's Day. I've already commented on the Tide, so here's a quick look at the others:

Cotton Bowl - I told my uncle to go with Auburn, which shows how badly I picked this one. The biggest surprise to me was how Texas A&M moved up and down the field against the Auburn defense. A&M blew holes in the Auburn line and also passed at will. I think it's time for Coach Dye to look at changing more than just coaches, because this team wasn't any 8-4 squad! I'll have to mention CBS's coverage - or lack of coverage - before I leave the Cotton Bowl. CBS had a fixation about Bo Jackson and Jackie Sherrill, and missed a touchdown and a two-point conversion because it wanted to let us see them on the sidelines. I think CBS did a poor job of showing the real game - the one played on the field.

Rose Bowl - Who cares? It's time somebody pumped some life into the "Granddaddy" of the bowl games.

Sugar Bowl - I was never a Tennessee fan, until Tony Robinson got hurt and the Vols rallied to win the SEC. Tennessee deserved to win the conference and did the SEC proud! Oh yeah, I've got to congratulate Ken Donahue for the job his defense did against Miami. Coach Donahue may not be good enough for Perkin's, but he's still an outstanding assistant coach.

Orange Bowl - This was one of the hardest hitting games I've ever seen! Both defenses played super; the difference was that Penn State's offense lacked the punch to put enough points on the board. I'll have to admit Penn State is better than I thought, while Oklahoma is just plain tough.

FOOTBALL HONORS CONTINUE TO ROLL IN FOR TIGERS

Just about every daily paper in the state picks some type of all-star football team and this year the Elba Tigers had players included on all the honored squads. I planned to feature Elba's all-star selections last week, but had to hold it due to a lack of space. However, I assure you I'm aware of all the honors and am proud to give the players the credit they deserve.

Zion Chapel Falls To Florala 81-65

The Zion Chapel Rebels fell behind early and could never catch up last Friday night as they fell to the Florala Wildcats 81-65, at Zion Chapel.

The Rebels jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead on a short jumper by Scotty Chancellor, but the fast-paced Wildcats answered with 10 straight points and with 4:30 left in the opening stanza the Cats owned a 10-2 lead. Zion Chapel rallied late in the quarter behind the play of Frankie Downing and closed to within 18-12 at the 1:14 mark, only to see Florala again catch fire and score 8 quick points to open up a 26-14 bulge.

The play of both teams got a little ragged in the second quarter as both teams ran up and down the court; however, Florala was in complete control of the game, and at the half went in with a big 43-25 advantage. Zion Chapel began to warm up in the third quarter, but still couldn't stop the run-and-gun Wildcats and failed to cut into the Florala lead. Frankie Downing sparked a Rebel rally midway through the stanza and pulled within 52-41 with 3:49 left in the quarter, only to once again see Florala crank up its offense and pull ahead 60-45 with only one quarter to play.

Florala got its offense in full gear early in the final stanza and threatened to blow the game open, but the Rebels refused to quit and cut the deficit to 71-60 with 2:38 left in the game. Zion Chapel had chances to get even closer; however, the Rebels couldn't convert on three straight trips down the court and Florala pulled away to post the 81-65 win.

Frankie Downing scored 27 points to lead Zion Chapel, while Scotty Chancellor added 21. Johnny Johnson and Phillip Mitchell scored 18 points apiece for Florala.

FEEDING SOYBEANS

Dr. B. G. Ruffin, animal nutritionist at Auburn, sent information recently on feeding soybeans to cattle. He said, "soybeans can be used in a mixed ration to furnish all of the needed added protein. Soybeans can be fed up to about 25 percent of the total ration. Twenty-five percent would meet protein requirements. This is considering using beans which have 20-30 percent of what the elevators call damaged beans. Soybeans are also high in energy because of the fat content. If you feed too much, the fat content will decrease feed intake and will also cause scouring problems in cattle."

Ruffin continued, "for brood cows, you can feed up to four to five pounds of soybeans per day along with Coastal Bermuda hay or peanut hay or some other hay. Soybeans can be fed alone if you can get the cattle to start eating it. You may have to mix some corn or molasses to get them to begin eating."

If you have questions on this, call us and we will help you figure out a ration which suits your individual needs.

PEANUT PRODUCTION MEETING

The annual peanut production meeting will be held at the Community Room at the Farm Center in New Brockton on Tuesday night, February 4, at 6:00. Production and marketing will be emphasized.

If there was ever a year to make your plans with precision, this is the year. I certainly encourage all peanut producers to attend this meeting.

We will have our peanut specialist Dalia Hartzog, Ron Weeks, and other specialists from Auburn to help pinpoint the opportunities for 1986. You will hear from me later on this meeting, but mark your calendar now and plan to be with us on February 4.

PECANS

Quite a few people are interested in establishing pecans for commercial production and also for home use. Pecans do best in a soil pH of 6.5 to 7.0. If you are planning to plant pecans this year, be absolutely certain that you send in a soil sample indicating that you plan to plant pecans. The laboratory can then specify enough lime to bring the pH up to around 7.0.

It is difficult to mix lime in with the soil after you plant pecans. So get this job done right away. If you need supplies to take the soil sample, pick them up at your agri-business dealer or at the county Extension Office. Give lime requirements top priority.

Commercial varieties for those producing for sale include Cape Fear, Cheyenne, Kiowa, Sumner, Desirable, Stuart, Forkert and Elliott. Cape Fear is an excellent pollinator.

Some of the best pecan varieties for home use in this area are Jackson, Sumner, Elliott, and Melrose. If you are planting a few trees for home use, include a Cape Fear to help insure good pollination.

SOIL TESTING

Lime dealers in Coffee County are equipped and ready to do an excellent job of spreading lime on cropland that needs to be limed. The most accurate way to determine lime needs is by sending in a soil sample. Do not let lime be a limiting factor in your production of peanuts and other crops this year.

If lime is low, no matter how much nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash is applied to the soil, your crops will not produce up to potential. Lime is absolutely essential for top yields. Do not plant a crop without taking care of your lime needs.

Incidentally, if you have not limed your garden recently and do not plan to soil test, go ahead and put out lime at 50 pounds per 1,000 square feet. This is at the rate of one ton per acre. Do not forget the lime needs of lawn grasses such as the improved Bermudas, Zoysia and other grasses. If you have not limed recently, you might want to go ahead and spread 50 pounds per 1,000 square feet on your lawn. Again, the most accurate way to determine lime needs is by soil test.

Newly elected county Extension Council president Mrs. Imogene Ellis, Rt. 4, Enterprise, presents a plaque to outgoing president C.D. Lowery of Zion Chapel. Lowery served two years; he was presented the award in recognition of his leadership to the council, and it was presented at the annual planning meeting of the council in New Brockton.

Heart Fund Accepting Gifts

Mary Jennings is the chairman of the Memorial Giving Program of the Unit of the American Heart Association, Alabama Affiliate.

She will be responsible for providing area residents with information on the program, which is an activity of the American Heart Association in the fight against the No. 1 Killer-HEART DISEASE.

More people are choosing Memorial Gifts as a way of honoring friends, relatives and associates who have died of Heart Disease.

In doing so, they know that they are helping the living as well as paying tribute to the memory of the deceased.

The Memorial Program works this way: Every contribution is acknowledged by a card which is sent to the family of the deceased, naming the giver but not the amount of the gift. The giver receives a duplicate copy for his income tax records. Memorial Gifts are tax-deductible.

Half of the deaths each year are caused by diseases of the heart and blood vessels. Memorial Gifts help make it possible for the Heart Association to continue life-saving activities such as high blood pressure screening, cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training, research, and public and professional education.

Anyone wanting to know more about the Memorial Gifts Program can contact Mary Jennings, 313 Cedar Dr., Enterprise, AL 36330 - 347-9021.

TRANSPLANTING PECAN TREES

Varities recommended for home plantings are Elliott, Melrose, Sumner, Jackson, Cape Fear can be used as a pollinator.

Plant trees from the nursery as soon as possible to prevent roots from drying or freezing. The dormant season (December through February or March) is the best time to plant trees. This allows time for the soil to settle around the roots before growth begins in the spring. Root growth sometimes occurs during warm periods in winter months and plants have a better chance for surviving.

Follow these steps in transplanting pecan trees:

1. Dig a hole 24 to 30 inches wide and 36 inches deep. Keep topsoil separated while digging. Fill the hole about 6 inches with the topsoil having a pH of 6.5. You can use soil taken from the hole, but you will have to get extra soil from another area to complete the job. caution-do not fertilize the tree now. Wait until early spring after growth begins.

2. Place the tree in the center of the hole and adjust its depth by adding or removing soil until it's about the same depth it grew in the nursery.

3. Fill the hole gradually with good topsoil until about three-fourths full or until you have covered the feeder roots with topsoil. Be careful to spread the feeder roots out as soil is added. Also firm the soil around the roots as the hole is filled. Finish filling the hole with the subsoil taken out when digging the hole or use topsoil to complete the job.

4. Apply 4 to 6 inches of mulch around the tree. And water the plant with 5 to 10 gallons of water if the ground is dry. Keep plants watered during dry weather. Drip irrigation is desirable for good survival of young trees.

5. The hardest job is pruning to remove one-third to one-half of the plant's top. Your plant will live better if it is pruned, because this balances the top with the root system which was cut back during the digging operation.

Peach Plans

If you're planting peach trees this winter, carefully select tree varieties. It is possible to have peaches ripening over a longer period by choosing a combination of varieties. Some peach varieties ripen as early as May, while others ripen as late as August.

Recommended varieties for Coffee County are, starting with the varieties that mature in May: Springcrest, June Gold, Maygold, Rubired, Sentinel, Harvester, Loring, Summergold, Winblo, Redskin, Dixiland, and Springgold. For a white peach use Belle of Georgia.

In selecting an orchard site, consider the following points:

1. Select soil of at least medium fertility with good drainage.
2. Test the soil before planting and apply lime if needed to correct soil acidity.
3. Plant on an elevated site with good air drainage-preferably on a moderate slope.

4. On rolling land, lay out the rows on the contour.

5. Make sure that the site is large enough for the purpose, and that there will be room to maneuver whatever equipment will be used.

6. In a home orchard, plantings may be integrated into the landscaping plan rather than set in regular rows.

PREPARE GARDEN SOILS

For garden soils that are low in organic matter, now is a good time to apply compost, manure or poultry litter. However, don't use materials likely to contain troublesome weeds.

Gin trash and weedy lawn clippings often contain many problem weeds. Spread woody, undecomposed materials now so they will have all winter to decay. If materials are well-decomposed, you may spread them in the spring before land preparation.

BROADCAST MANURE OR COMPOST

Broadcast manure or compost about three inches deep. Incorporate this into the plow layer when preparing land. If you use poultry litter, spread it only about one inch deep to prevent crop injury.

PRUNING MUSCADINE GRAPES

1. Thin out dead, diseased and interfering wood.
2. Remove all canes from the trunk except the permanent arms or those canes needed to replace damaged or dead arms.
3. Cut all previous year's growth, light brown color back to two to four buds.

VOLUME 89 THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1986 ELBA, ALABAMA 36323 1 SECTION 12 PAGES (Plus 1 Adv. Insert) NUMBER 29

RESCUE WORKERS work to transport Johnnie Coleman to the hospital following the shooting last Saturday. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Bid Openings Dominate Monday Meeting Of County Commission

The Coffee County Commission met in regular session on Monday, Jan. 13, at the courthouse in Elba and opened eight sets of bids on items ranging from carpet to tires.

A total of four bids were received on four types of floor covering to be placed on the main floor of the Enterprise courthouse, and Enterprise Wholesale was low bidder and received the contract.

Only two bids were received for the installation of seven glass doors at the Enterprise courthouse, and low bidder was Enterprise Glass, who was awarded the contract.

Chairs for the Circuit Clerk's offices were also bid items, and Enterprise Office Supply, low bidder, over one other competitor, was awarded the contract.

The final bid involving the renovation of the Enterprise courthouse was on cabinets, and TAB Products of Pensacola was successful bidder, getting the contract over three other prospective bidders.

The state recently allocated funds for the installation of elevators in both courthouses and, bids were opened at the Monday meeting, with Otis Elevator getting the contract with a low bid of $47,000.

Montgomery Elevator was the only other bidder, with a quoted price of $48,500. The elevators will be installed by September, 1986, and will be used to aid the handicapped in reaching the upstairs courtrooms.

K & S Exxon was low bidder on a service contract for all county cars and pickup trucks, over three other bidders, and will get all service work on vehicles not usually serviced at the county shop.

Three bids received on tires for the county's large fleet of vehicles; however, all three bids were rejected as the commission decided to continue purchasing tires at the state bid price.

Pea River Timber was the only bidder on the sale of 53 acres of timber behind the Farm Center in New Brockton, and got the contract with its bid of $4,750. The land will be cleared to be used as the main fairgrounds for the upcoming National Chicken Festival.

In other action at Monday's meeting, the commission: approved the minutes of the meetings held in December; voted to rent the Rowe house in Enterprise as an annex for the Coffee County Health Dept.; pledged financial support to the newly-formed Ino Volunteer Fire Dept.; heard a representative of the

First Financial Group present a plan on a county savings program for the employees; approved a resolution earmarking federal paving funds for use in paving a two-mile road near the Dale County line off Highway 84; agreed to discuss a proposal to change county employees' pay period to Friday-to-Friday instead of Tuesday-to-Tuesday; instructed the county engineer to draw up guidelines concerning a plan to build temporary ramps for timber companies working near county roads; agreed to form a committee to discuss changes in the county's present purchasing program; and approved attendance at upcoming meetings for the commission members, probate judge and engineer.

The next meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 27, in Elba.

NEWS BRIEFS

House-To-House Search To Begin

The Coffee County Health Dept. has announced that, beginning Monday, Feb. 24, 1986, a house-to-house rabies vaccination verification program will begin.

Alabama State Law, Title 3, Chapter 7, Section 1-13, requires all dogs and cats three months of age or older to be vaccinated against rabies once a year.

The increase in cases of positive rabies in Coffee County has led to the need for strict enforcement of the law, and individual pet owners who cannot show proof of current vaccination of animals will be cited and required to pay a $12 fine, plus the fee for vaccination.

The health department is urging all pet owners to have their animals vaccinated prior to the Feb. 24 deadline.

Man Arrested For Sexual Abuse

An Enterprise man was arrested last week and charged with two counts of first degree sexual abuse, following an investigation by the Elba Police Dept. and the Coffee County Dept. of Pensions and Security.

Curtis Sullivan, age 49, a resident of West Park Avenue, Enterprise, was arrested at his home on Tuesday, Jan. 7, by Coffee County Sheriff's Dept. deputies on charges involving an 8-year-old and 10-year-old girl. The abuse charges were reported to the P&S office, which contacted Elba Police.

Bond was set at $20,000, and if convicted, Sullivan could face a total of 20 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

A preliminary hearing will be held on Jan. 31.

Burglary Reported At Magwood Grocery

Elba Police Dept. officials are continuing their investigation of a recent burglary at a grocery store in the Mulberry Heights subdivision.

The burglary occurred at Magwood's Grocery and items reported taken included canned goods, cigarettes, tobacco, meat, loose cash and a cash register with a total value of approximately $400.

Entry was apparently gained by breaking in the front door.

Blackmon Gets 2-Year Prison Term

Johnny Kim Blackmon of Elba pleaded guilty to burglary charges last week in Circuit Court and received a sentence of two years in prison.

Blackmon pleaded guilty to the April, 1983 burglary of the Charles Ellis home and was sentenced by Judge Sam Adams.

MONEY FOR SCHOOLS... State Senator Crum Foshee, right, is shown presenting $1,000 checks to Elba High School principal Mickey McCollough, left, and middle school principal Dale Crowe, while school board chairman Butch Oggs looks on happily. Foshee made the presentation on behalf of himself and Rep. Jimmy Holley. He said they had requested and received the money from Gov. Wallace's discretionary funds and his only regret was that there wasn't more of the money.

Elba Man Charged In Weekend Shooting Death Of 24-Year Old Son

A young Elba man was shot and killed over the weekend following an argument at a local cafe, and Elba police have charged the man's father with manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting.

Johnny Glen Coleman, age 24, was shot at approximately 11:50 a.m.

on Saturday, Jan. 11, at Coleman's Cafe, apparently after an argument with his father, John Frazier Coleman, age 52. Police officials reported the elder Coleman allegedly shot his son in the chest with a .38 caliber handgun, and that the victim was dead on arrival at Elba General Hospital. John Frazier Coleman was charged with manslaughter and is free on $10,000 bond.

The shooting was investigated by the Elba Police Dept., Coffee County Sheriff's Dept., and the district attorney's office.

Brunson Proud Of Accomplishments Made In Coffee County

Coffee County Probate Judge Marion Brunson will complete the third year of his term this week, and while taking time to look back at the past three years, couldn't help but beam with pride when asked to comment on improvements accomplished during his tenure.

"When I took office back in 1983 I expected to be faced with many challenges," said Brunson, "and while the challenges have come, many great things have been accomplished for the citizens of the county. As a resident of Coffee County I wanted to do the best for all the county, and I have tried to do just that. I have given Coffee County my best effort and take pride in the many accomplishments that have been achieved. I'm not ashamed to say that I love Coffee County and I hope all citizens of the county can realize that everything I do is what I think is best for this fine county in which we live!"

"One man can't do much without a lot of help," added Judge Brunson, "and I've been blessed to work with two tremendous sets of county commissions. All the members of both commissions worked hard to improve Coffee County and together we have been able to do a lot. During the next three years I think the commission will continue to do what is best for the county, and I know I'll give my all to make this county better than ever for our citizens."

In looking back to 1985, Judge Brunson listed four major accomplishments of the current commission.

The first accomplishment mentioned was the completion of the new bridge at Snellgrove's Mill (Cole's Bridge). The new bridge, along with the new bridge at Teal Creek and other minor bridge work, totaled $780,000.

Road improvements were also listed among the accomplishments, and especially the paving of 13.8 miles of dirt roads and the resurfacing of 48 miles of roadway. The paving program cost $442,000 and the resurfacing of the roads carried a price tag of $650,000.

The ever-present problem of the antiquated county jail almost became a thing of the past in 1985 as the commission did extensive renovation, including the construction of a female cell, painting on both the inside and out, and improvements needed to comply with all fire codes.

The courthouses were a pet project of Judge Brunson, a noted historian, who continued to make the historical courthouses a source of pride. A new town clock was installed at Elba, while a clock will soon be up in Enterprise, and interior renovation is continuing to take place almost daily.

"We have two courthouses in Coffee County, and I want both to be a source of pride to our people," Brunson said, "and not a source of embarrassment. I am proud we have two courthouses, and when visitors come to the county I want them to see what elegant, historic courthouses we have."

Judge Brunson smiled when he declared, "I'm not a politician and I don't want to be one. I just want to be the best probate judge I can be and do the best for this great county."

And, if you ask anybody in Coffee County about the probate judge, you'll find they think he's pretty great himself!

Small Group Of Citizens Attend City Meeting To Discuss Proposed Extension Of City Limits

The Elba City Council held a public hearing Monday on the proposed extension of the Elba city limits. The five o'clock meeting was attended by about a half dozen interested citizens.

Speaking out on the additional taxes and potential city services were Carol Marler, Nelma Smith and Comer Ray Henderson. After the formal part of the hearing was completed Harold Moody came in and expressed his opinion also.

Marler was concerned over his ability to continue his farming operation, including construction of additional chicken houses, if the city zoning board was involved. When he learned that section of land where he has chicken houses was not scheduled to be included, Marler had no further questions.

Henderson questioned the additional property tax on residential rental property and timberland. He was told the additional property tax would be 4 mills on his present assessment. This is based on 10 percent of assessed value of family home, 20 percent on rental property, and the city doesn't tax farm or timberland.

Smith asked about additional city services and noted he didn't want city water if it was the same small line serving his two neighbors and for fire protection. Mayor English repeatedly told the group he didn't anticipate adding sewer lines to any area that would require a pumping station --- at least not during the present administration.

English also noted that he has been informed that for Elba to achieve the Class 6 five insurance rating they would have to sign an agreement to take only the older reserve fire truck outside the city limits. He noted that the lower insurance rates would more than offset the additional property tax on new citizens.

In other business the council approved buying a new police car from Cook Chevrolet for $11,016.41.

A few citizens attended the public hearing on extension of the city limits.
